Just the Facts.

Fact 1: Absolutely no other comic dealer buys more golden and silver age comics than we do.

Although the pages of CBG are filled with other dealers offering to pay "top dollar", the simple truth is that Metropolis spends more money on more quality comic book collections, year in and year out, than any other dealer in the country. We have the funds and the expertise to back up our words. The fact is that we have spent nearly 2 million dollars on rare comic books and movie posters over the last year. If you have books to sell, call us toll-free at 1-800-229-6387. If you know of any comic book or movie poster collections, call us today for a generous finder's fees. All calls will be kept strictly confidential.

Fact 2: Absolutely no other comic dealer sells more golden and silver books than we do.

We simply have the best stock of golden and silver age comic books in the country. The thousands of collectors familiar with our strict grading standards and excellent service can attest to this. Chances are, if you want it, we have it.

1996 Begins

As the new year begins, I'm reminded of an old adage my father used to say: "Get your nose out of those <expletive> comic books and get a job!"

Well, here I am, years (decades, even) later, with my nose still buried firmly between the pages of my comics. But I've got a job now, thanks to you readers. Because of you, I get to share my love of comic books, and my sense of what the hobby has to offer with folks all over the world. What more could anyone want? All of us here at Comics Source feel the same way. We love comics, we love our readers, and we love "working"—if you can call it that—in this crazy, topsy-turvy, four color business.

As we look out over the next twelve months, we are excited about the possibility of making Comics Source (gasp! can it be true?) even BETTER! We came a long way in '95, and we KNOW we can get closer to your idea of the perfect comic fanzine in '96—but we need your help!

"What can I do?" you may ask. "How could I possibly contribute more than Captain Sparky, himself?" Fret not, friend! The answer is simple: Let us know what you want to see! Give us your suggestions, and keep on sending stories about your experiences and hopes to our various departments. Remember, Comics Source is ABOUT comic fans, published FOR comic fans, and written BY comic fans! And that means YOU!

Send us your convention adventures, your greatest deals, your most bittersweet memories, and your least conventional collecting methods! Tell us what covers make your heart flip-flop and what heroes helped define your sense of self while you grew up!

We've got an array of dynamite features to help you start the new year with a bang. Bill Schelly continues his string of nostalgic gems with the latest installment of Sense of Wonder. This month, he shows us the "Flos & Cons" of Comic Fandom by sharing with us the reminisces of "Fabulous" Flo Steinman, former assistant to Stan "The Man," himself! Flo was involved with Marvel Comics from the beginning, and distinguished herself as the company's first official representative to the very first Comicon!

Mr. Comix returns with another batch of nominations for the One Hundred Greatest Covers of All Time. Mr. C., a connoisseur of comic art, also offers some observations about underrated strips and TV-related comics, including...Dragnet (just the facts, ma'am)!

In "Down Memory Lane," Steve Mowrey gives us some insight into the state of mind that forced him to give up collecting and sell his collection in lieu of "real" literature.

That silver-tongued devil, Jack Mallette, shares some adventures on the road, as he relates his pilgrimage to the birthplace of the master of fantastic fiction, Robert E. Howard. Jack shakes some bushes in Howard's home town to gain a closer perspective on the man who created Conan, Kull, and my own personal favorite, Solomon Kane.

The ever-vigilant Jim Cangialosi stalks the most dangerous game of all—comic shop dealers—in a new installment of "Talking Shop." This month, Jim and his friends tackle the question of how comic book conventions can survive the current drought of fan interest.

And, of course, perennial favorite, "Calling All Fans," is back for another swing at the jaw of fan loneliness! If you've got a comic-related question you want answered, if you've got a want list item you can't find, or if you just want to connect with collectors whose interests are similar to yours, call or write in with your request. "Calling All Fans" costs you nothing to use, but just might reap considerable dividends for your collecting empire.

So put on your party hats and polish up your punch bowls! Let Comics Source be your host for a gala comics bash that will rock your new year for weeks to come! Resolve to make CS a permanent part of your monthly reading list. And keep on smelling the ink...

House of Ideas

I just received Comics Source #26, and decided to pass on a few personal comments to you. I think you and your staff of advisors have done a great job on the magazine. You've made a number of changes, all for the better, and all in the interests of your readership. Your articles have been fun to read, and your cover contests have been fun to guess, even though I haven't won yet—but I'll keep trying!

I think your idea about selecting our favorite comic book covers and favorite comic book stores should bring some interesting responses. (Is the competition so great that, if I send my favorites in, they won't see the light of day?)

I have an idea for a new column: do a variation of the column you publish in Wizard magazine! Have readers write in with questions about a particular comic, artist, writer, or character!

Ready for another idea? How about a feature entitled, "Where Are They Now?" This article would highlight the career of a particular artist or writer, and would let us know what they've been up to lately. Readers would be able to request whom they'd like to read about in future issues. If possible, readers could also correspond to the artists directly—if said artists wanted their addresses made available. Otherwise, you could pass along any mail that comes in.

In an earlier issue, one of your readers wrote about organizing a comic book convention. You certainly sounded interested in your response to that idea. Is anything being done to make it a reality? Please let me know. There must be others who would be interested in attending.

As a public service feature, you could publish a list informing your subscribers about what Golden and Silver Age artists are appearing at comic conventions each month. I know that another magazine publishes a listing of more current artists. Yours would be aimed at a different audience.

In some future issue, you also might want to have an article on the care and upkeep of Golden Age and Silver Age comics. Bill Cole mentioned a few terms in his interview in issue #26, like "archival," "Mylar® sleeves," "acid-free boards," and "pH," and talked about how companies are selling supplies that don't make the grade as far as preserving the comic books we care so much about. I thought I was doing the right thing, but I seem to be more confused now than I was before.

I'll see you all next month.

Dennis A. Brennan
Rego Park, NY

GOOD IDEAS, ONE AND ALL, DENNIS. WE'RE CURRENTLY LOOKING AT THE POSSIBILITY OF ADDING A SHOW CALENDAR TO OUR REGULAR FEATURES. IF WE DECIDE TO GO IN THAT DIRECTION, ARTISTS AND WRITERS APPEARING WILL FIGURE PROMINENTLY IN THE SHOW DESCRIPTIONS. AS FOR THE "WHERE ARE THEY NOW?" IDEA, WE TRY TO INCLUDE AN ARTIST INTERVIEW OR PROFILE IN EVERY ISSUE. THIS MONTH'S INTERVIEW IS WITH GOLDEN AGE ARTIST HARRY LAMPERT, AND UPCOMING INTERVIEWS MAY INCLUDE: IRWIN HASEN ("WILDCAT"), MIKE KALUTA (THE SHADOW), JOE SINNOTT, DICK SPRANG, AND OTHERS. JUST KEEP YOUR EYES PEELED, AND YOUR NOSE BURIED DEEP IN THE PAGES OF COMICS SOURCE, AND I THINK YOU'LL SEE SOME POSITIVE CHANGES IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

Horrible Fascination

I'm thoroughly enjoying my subscription to Comics Source. I consider myself an average collector trying to fill my want list of 554 books on a limited budget (like I said, "average").

In "Now It's Your Turn," you say you'd like to hear about our favorite reads. I don't know if it's because of the reading or the cheesy, gruesome art, but I've always treasured, and still read and collect, those ghastly horror mags from the late '60s and '70s. You know the ones: Shock, Witches' Tales, Blade—the Vampire Slayer, Chilling Tales of Horror, Horror Tales, Masters of Terror, etc. Why worry about the Comics Code? Just print it in magazine size and put it on the newsstand! For some of the freakiest, most gruesome art this side of the Comics Code Authority, these mags can't be beat! And just try to find them nowadays!

Keep up the good work, and may I never see in your pages, "This is our last issue."

David Inniss
Lynn, MA

UGH! YOU REALLY KNOW HOW TO COLLECT, DAVID! I'VE GOTTA ADMIT, I'VE ALWAYS HAD A TAWDRY FASCINATION WITH SOME OF THOSE TITLES, MYSELF. THE OVERSIZED, BLACK & WHITE FORMAT DID SEEM TO LEND MORE CREATIVE FREEDOM TO THE BOOKS, ALLOWING THEM TO CIRCUMVENT CCA EDICTS AGAINST VIOLENCE (AND, OCCASIONALLY, NUDITY). DOES ANYONE ELSE OUT THERE HAVE A STRANGE, OFF-BEAT COLLECTION? TELL US ABOUT IT!

You Bet Your Collection!

I love your magazine! It's by far the best info mag for Silver & Golden Age fandom around. I am twenty-seven years old, and have been collecting since 1975, but stopped between 1982 and '86. I'm willing to bet I have one of the best collections anywhere for someone my age. I have Fantastic Four #1-current, Amazing Fantasy/Spider-Man #15/1-current, Daredevil #1-current, Hulk #1-current, almost every other complete Marvel series, Showcase #4, Flash #105, Flash #4, and lots of ECs. I collect almost exclusively in GVG condition. I am not an investor—I buy for the love of the old books. I would rather have ten or twenty books in GVG than buy one in NM.

I'd like to see an article on an artist who was being groomed as one of Marvel's "big guys" (like Kirby & Ditko)—Joe Maneely! Any information on this great artist would be appreciated. I'd also like to see an overview of all the Atlas artists, like Paul Reinman and the great Bill Everett, and maybe even a feature on the artists of EC Comics, like Graham Ingels, Johnny Craig, Al Feldstein, etc.

My subscription runs out in forty issues, so I look forward to seeing these pieces in the future. Keep up the good work!

Mike Ward
Reno, NV

FORTY ISSUES! WHATTA GUY! WE'LL TRY TO JUSTIFY YOUR FAITH IN US, MIKE. AS ALWAYS, THOUGH, THE BEST WAY TO SEE THE ARTICLES YOU'D LIKE TO SEE IN COMICS SOURCE IS WRITE THEM YOURSELF! PUT YOUR THOUGHTS ON PAPER, SEND 'EM IN, AND WE'LL IRON OUT ANY MINOR PROBLEMS!

They Were the Best of Buys—They Were the Worst of Buys...

I read your Comics Source #26 at a Books-A-Million in Montgomery after I drove two hours to go to a SORRY card & comic "mall convention." When will I ever learn that all they offer at those things is modern crap? (Actually, some of it is quite good, but it doesn't stir my soul the way seeing a VF+ Hulk #6 does.) During my zero-comic, full-wallet drive home, I thought about responses to your three ideas.

Idea #1—Favorite Cover:

1) Far and away the best—Amazing Spider-Man #33. Ditko's water drops, with Spider-Man's helplessness in the background, epitomize the Lee/Ditko Spidey—the super-hero who could be you!

2) Fantastic Four #48. Doesn't the shock of the Watcher just make you want to turn the pages? The rich Halloween oranges of the cover, plus knowing the book contains the first appearances of Galactus and the Silver Surfer, make it good enough to eat!

3) ANYTHING by Steranko. He was ONLY about twenty years ahead of his time!

4) Silver Surfer #4. If this cover doesn't excite your blood, it's time to find a new hobby. Of course, if this issue came out today, it'd probably be a hologram, wraparound, 3-D, foil cover—but I digress.

5) Amazing Spider-Man #39. This cover has the best colors of any comic I've ever seen! I love the purple sky, fading to a light blue background, with the Green Goblin and a trapped, unmasked, red and blue Spider-Man, flying over the city. (Remember when Marvel used this pose to sell subscriptions?)

Idea #2—Favorite Comic Shops:

I bought my Amazing Spider-Man #3 and issues #20-29 at a store in Waltham, Massachusetts. I bought mail order from Ed Kalb of Arizona in '85: Amazing Spider-Man #41-49 for $3.50 each, and #51-95 & #99 for $2 each—all in Fine or better!

Which brings me to idea #3—Have folks write in telling about their best and worst deals!

In '84 and '85, while I was in Jr. High School, I had the collector's bug. I jumped on the X-Men bandwagon, and quickly parted with my hard-earned paper route money for overpriced Byrne issues (still some of my favorite books). I had a bad mail order experience with a #95—it listed as NM in the ad, but when I received it, it turned out to be FVF. I considered the $35 I spent for it wasted.

That one deal turned me off the X-Men, so I looked elsewhere. About that time, Spider-Man got a nifty new costume. Being fourteen years old, I jumped just as quickly on his bandwagon! Only this time, the back issues weren't ten years old, they were twenty-five years old! Wow!

I fell in love with the Goblin and Gwen Stacy, and the rest is history. The next two years, I spent $1,000 of paper route money on older *Spider-Man*s. I was fourteen or fifteen, a freshman in high school, and shelled out whatever I earned on snowy, wintery New England mornings for any Fine or better Spider-Man I could find. My rule was—and still is—to buy no one comic book for more than $100.

Anyway, my BEST buys in order are:

1) Spider-Man #14, $54. I said to myself, "I have to have this book in Mint condition (or Pristine Mint, as we said in '84-'85. That sounds so funny now). I bought it from a dealer for 10% off. (It's really about a FVF—my grading grew up as I did.)

2) Spider-Man #28, $6.75. I bought it in Waltham at that store. It was in a box—a VF copy. I'm considering a $300 offer for it.

3) Spider-Man #51, $2. This one came from Ed Kalb. It's a strong VF, and symbolizes to me all the comics I bought from Ed (#123-251, minus #121 & 122, for 75¢ each). Does anyone know his situation these days?

4) Spider-Man #100, $14. It's a perfect NM+ from Sparkle City. The folks at this store told me to buy only NM books. I wish I had listened.

5) Spider-Man #3, $75. After I bought it (at that same Waltham store), I had that sinking feeling I'd just spent a lot of money I shouldn't have spent. The only reason I bought it is that, at a show, a lady had a chewed-up #3 for $120, which I thought was ridiculous. Mine is about a VGF.

On to my WORST deals:

1) I traded a VFNM Fantastic Four #48 for a folder of '70s & '80s baseball cards. Whoopee.

2) I jumped on the black & white bandwagon, and got stuck with some overpriced Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Radioactive Blackbelt Hamsters, Boris the Bear, Gizmo, etc. Any buyers?

3) There were a few other bad deals, but I've always been one to enjoy what I bought without really caring much about anything else.

I liked Rick Roe's letter a lot. His views on comic books, and on your magazine, reflect my own. But I have a problem with his bitterness about the hobby pricing out many collectors. Hey—you gotta pay to play! I'm an avid Silver Age Marvel collector, but I still haven't bought a book over $100. Will I ever own an Amazing Fantasy #15? No—but who cares? I'll live without! I see Rick is buying Golden Age books in less than Good condition. That's where the joy of comics lies for him! I hope that joy never dies. Still, he should let those idiot buyers and dealers get burned by the industry and depart. As far as I'm concerned, all those $1,000 books are fun to read about. (Maybe I'll win the lottery and buy some.) Comics have their place in my life, and always will. I think Rick needs to see other collectors who really enjoy the hobby for what it is—a hobby.

In closing, I'd like to say your mag has exactly the kinds of articles about comics I look for. Keep your focus on the older stuff. Like baseball cards, comics are headed towards a gluttonous future—

Comic-Temps™ is a trademark of Bill Cole Enterprises, Inc.

COMIC-TEMPS™ SHOULD ONLY BE USED FOR SHORT-TERM STORAGE!

Retailers and Dealers use inexpensive polypropylene bags to transport their books to and from shows. Retailers also use polypropylene bags to make sure books are not smudged with fingerprints.

Many retailers have requested that we manufacture and distribute polypropylene sleeves. Why? Because their present suppliers are not delivering on time. Poor quality control, cheap imported sleeves, minimum dollar orders, strict eligibility requirements, ordering three months in advance, etc. We could go on, but you get the idea. They wanted freedom of choice.

Now Bill Cole Enterprises can and will give you that choice...

We will be stocking the new Comic-Temps™ in two sizes: for Current and Standard/Silver Age size comic books.

We're on the Information Superhighway!

Feel free to browse and E-mail us at any time. We will have on-line specials just for Internet browsers.

P.S.—Have you ever seen the episode of Different Strokes in which Arnold steals a comic book he thinks is worth only 12¢—a Spider-Man #1 that's really worth a whopping...$1,700?

A LOT OF FOLKS OUT THERE ARE UPSET WITH RISING COMIC PRICES, ED. IT'S HARD NOT TO GET UPSET WHEN WE LOOK AT BOOKS THAT WE'D LOVE TO HAVE IN OUR COLLECTIONS, ONLY TO BE SLAPPED IN THE FACE BY A STRATOSPHERIC PRICE TAG. WE'VE ALL GOT TO REMEMBER, AS YOU SAID, TO ENJOY COMIC COLLECTING AS A HOBBY.

Trick or Treat

I'd like to tell you about a wonderful thing that happened to me this past Halloween—which, by the way, was my birthday.

On the morning of Halloween, my wife and eight month-old son, Kyle woke me up, for two reasons:

1) I needed to get up to care for Kyle (my day off), so my wife could go to work.

2) My wife wanted me to open my birthday present.

After getting up and making it into the living room, I sat down and received my present. Over the past few years, I've started collecting original comic artwork, an aspect of collecting I find very enjoyable. So, once I was handed my birthday present, I had a strong feeling it might be some artwork, due to the shape and size of the package. After opening it, I soon realized that it was not just another piece of artwork!

My loving wife had managed to do something I hadn't been able to do myself—she tracked down and bought me an original Jack Kirby sketch of my favorite character, the Incredible Hulk! WOW!

Needless to say, I was stunned! A Jack Kirby original! I'd never even seen any of Jack's work in person...and now I owned a small piece of it! My wife had seen an ad for the piece, placed the call, and bought it. She also filled the guys who were selling the piece in on the deal...and set me up! When I saw the ad, I tried frantically to get the artwork. I left a message with the seller regarding the piece. I finally received a call back from the dealer saying the piece had been sold.

Boy, was I upset! I was in a complete funk for a couple of days! I really wanted that Kirby sketch! The whole time, my wife was consoling me, telling me there would be other pages and other sketches—knowing all along the sketch was secretly on its way to our house!

Several weeks passed, and Halloween came. BAM! There it was! My Kirby sketch! I'd like to say thanks to Hans and the staff at Tri-State for playing along. Thanks to my Visa for not being at its limit. And hugs and kisses to my loving wife for getting this sketch for me. Jennifer, you're the greatest!

The Wisdom of Experience

To Thine Own Self Be True

BY STEVE MOWREY

One theory inherent to the tradition of hordism favored by collector-types, is that whoever has the most (comics) at the end...wins.

I've always found myself caught between the bittersweet allure of a simple, orderly non-materialism and the smirking, greedy pleasures of owning every cool record and comic book on Earth. Each time I've made the smallest in-road towards owning "the BIG collection," I've been so overcome by guilt and poverty I've immediately embraced the former.

On a number of occasions, I've sold priceless treasures for scraps in the marketplace—just to appease the part of me that thinks I'm a Zen monk with no attachments. Inevitably (usually 3-5 days later), the most painful pangs of regret seize me. I rush back to the marketplace in a highly-agitated state to buy back my treasures—only to find they are long gone. In a fever, I place expensive ads in trade papers specializing in my addiction. If, by some agency of fortune, I am lucky enough to find even one of the little buggers (e.g., F.F. #49), I'm bound to fork over an arm and a leg to get it back.

Even worse than the economic lunacy of this system is the forehead-whacking frustration of searching through my collection for half an hour for an item before remembering I sold it a couple of weeks before at a swap shop on High Street to help pay the water bill! Though I've always been hyper-aware of the weighty psychological toll these collecting flip-flops are exacting on me, I've still offered fairly large collections of Silver Age Marvels to dealer-scum on three different occasions—and have gotten ripped off each time.

My childhood WAS, in large part, Marvel Comics. Now, as a result of my impulse-selling...I have no childhood. The insidious nature of nostalgia-driven collecting is to return us our youth. And no matter how calculated, complete, and successful the enthusiast's urge to buy back the grail of his formative, molding years—it's still doomed.

My replacement comics are not the same ones I read on sidewalk egg-frying hot Tulsa afternoons between 1963-1966. They've lost that brilliant, waxy sheen, and they smell funny. Other eyes have marred them. They're museum pieces that have already passed through other greedy hands—maybe the hands of big, money-grubbing dealers who haven't even read them at all, who consider them "investments" and "stocks" for future trading.

They're not MY comics.

When I sold MY comics, I sold my SOUL. And it's been wandering in the winds without a home ever since. You youngsters reading this, take heed.

In the old days, comic books were vilified as a substandard art form that appealed to pre-teens (primarily boys) as normally and inevitably as puberty. Not until R. Crumb and the whole ZAP phenomenon did a reevaluation of the comic form as "illuminated Text" began to gain a foothold. Although the "super-hero" mode was frequently disparaged, a few great artists like Jack Kirby, Steve Ditko, John Romita, and Gene Colan eventually rose above such generalizations.

But it was too late for me. I got caught up in the negative hype that, after comics, one "graduates" to "real" literature, and puts away such childish preoccupations. So one summer around 1972, after weeks of wandering through a maze of interior arguments, I looked at the boxes of Marvels in my closet in a new light.

Obviously, I had become a serious student of serious literature, with Mr. Joyce, Mr. Aeschylus, and Mr. Blake as my new guiding lights. What good were all those silly comics full of evil mad villains and insecure heroes with all their complexes? Who needed those childish walks through absurd fantasy, now that I had embarked on phoenix wings to a towering rock where a hunger-starved eagle must feed for all eternity on an impaled god of fire? How silly seemed Kirby's "worlds within worlds," elemental beings, and surreal adventures in the "Negative Zone!" What had I been thinking? How could I ever have slavered helplessly over Lee's mosaic scripting for "Tales of Asgard," with its pantheon of Norse and Arthurian legends in a mythological land beyond the Rainbow Bridge!

Besides, I'd heard rumors that those twelve-centers were fetching upwards of $2-$3 dollars an issue! "Stand aside, loyal Balder! I'll sell my youth for a pittance."

Off to the comics store I went, proud of my resolve and new maturity. I got something like $100 out of my books—about what a couple of *Iron Man*s in decent shape are worth today. I probably spent the whole c-note on beer and a set of snow tires.

But the worst of it is (looking through hindsight at the gaping space in my closet), I misjudged and mistrusted my own instincts. I undervalued (and not just in dollars and cents—though that's also salt in my wound) a great aesthetic and cultural achievement in art that will be studied and elegized for years to come. I have neither excuse nor consolation. The price I've paid, both literally and figuratively, has been heavy.

I can only hope that the obsessions and values of future generations don't betray them, as well.

I have been dealing primarily in MARVEL COMICS for 25 years. The basis of my stock was assembled during the 1970s when I had the foresight to "load up" on these main titles and my inventory today offers great depth on all, including the early issues. My pricing for this ad was set having carefully checked all corresponding prices set by my competitors in the most recent issue of COMICS SOURCE and my prices are the lowest across the board. Please inquire if there are any issues you want that are not listed. Order with confidence. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Payment in US funds or equivilant by check, bank draft or money order. Canadians must add applicable taxes, all US/Overseas orders are tax-free. 10% discount if alternates are listed. Add $5 for postage/insurance. $.40 postage needed sending 1st class letter to Canada.

CALLING ALL FANS!

CAN YOU HELP THESE READERS?

Need help locating an item (comics or otherwise) for your col-lection? Got a question you'd like answered? Have some duplicates you'd like to trade? Then drop us a note! We can't guarantee we'll be able to publish all your letters (the cuter it is, the better chance it has of seeing print), but we WILL pick some of the best each month.

PLEASE, no "For Sale" letters! Limit letters to between 100 and 150 words.

Send your crazy questions, weird wants, and esoteric exclamations to "Calling All Fans," Comics Source, 2401 Broad Street, Chattanooga, TN 37408. You can also FAX your letters to (423) 265-5506, or email them to:

WHAT'S NEW, PUSSYCAT?

First of all, I'd like to thank a fellow reader for giving me the opportunity cross that elusive I Dream of Jeannie #1 off my want list. Thanks, Kevin!

Now, if I could just get my hands on a Frankenstein, Jr. (Gold Key, 1967) #1 and a Pussycat (magazine, 1968) #1, I would be in Seventh Heaven! How about it, fellow fans? Can anybody help me out?

MEET ME IN ARIZONA

After Thanksgiving, I'll be travelling from Dothan, Alabama to eastern Arizona. I'll have my *Spider-Man*s (#3 and up) with me, and would like to trade or upgrade my collection. If anyone out there lives near Interstate 10, I'd love to spend an hour or two driving break talking and swapping comics.

SWEET DREAMS

I love the original, Golden Age Sandman. I am an avid collector of books featuring the character on the cover, such as issues of Adventure Comics. I want to get my hands on ANY Golden Age books with the Sandman on the cover (the gas mask uniform—not the gold and purple one). If you have any of these books, or know where I can find them, please write to me.

POSITIVE FEEDBACK

Calling All Fans really did the trick for me! In issue #26, I posted a note asking for any issues (#68-74) of Charlton's Wild Bill Hickock comic, and for Dell Four Color #865—"The Saga of Andy Burnett." Thanks to Calling All Fans, "Andy Burnett" has found a permanent waterin' hole in my collection! Now, all I have to do is get ol' Wild Bill to join the posse!

GOOD GRIEF!

I'm a freelance writer, trying to research an article about Peanuts comic books. Although I've managed to talk to Peanuts creator Charles M. Schulz, himself, I still haven't turned up much info about the round-headed kid's foray into comics. Schulz has no recollection of the books, other than to confirm that he did draw the covers, but not the interior artwork.

Aaaauuuuuugghhh!

If you know who wrote or drew the books, or if you have any information or leads to give me, please write or E-Mail me. Thanks!

TIMELY INTERVENTION

I love Timely covers, especially those with Alex Schomburg art. I collect lower grade Timelys, which are getting VERY tough to find. If anyone shares my interest in these beautiful relics of a bygone era, please give me a call or write. Also, if anyone has an All-Winners #19 in ANY grade, get in touch with me—we've got a lot to talk about!

Are You A V. I. P.?

ARE YOU a V.I.P.? Here at Comics Source, we think of each and every one of our paid subscribers as V.I.P.s—Very Important People—whose love for comic books is the sole reason we are in business. Heck, without fans and collectors, this hobby wouldn't exist and Marvel and DC would have gone under back in the '70s.

Can't Do It Without You.

You see, because we don't have high ad rates, and aren't carried by many shops, we rely on you, our subscribers, for the lion's share of our budget. Because we depend on subscribers, we knock ourselves out making sure that Comics Source is everything you'd expect it to be. When you subscribe, you can count on issue after issue of great entertainment and a warm atmosphere of "collector community." And if you want a new department or a special article, all you have to do is ask.

World's Most Successful Magazines...

Reader's Digest, National Geographic, Time, and Sports Illustrated are among the most successful magazines in the world. All have one thing in common: They rely on subscriptions for the majority of their income. And so do WE (who knows, maybe someday we'll be up there with the big guys)! Other magazines rely on advertising dollars for the bulk of their revenue (giving the advertisers all the clout in editorial content). When subscribers are the most important, you (the subscriber) benefit because everything is geared towards satisfying YOU.

Fans Are #1.

Here at Comics Source, everything we do is for you, the comic book fan. You'll find lots of fun and entertainment in each issue. Lots of information, too. And, of course, if you're in a buyin' mood, you'll love the comic book classifieds (our unique marketplace) in every issue—so much to choose from!

Our goal is to make collecting comics fun again. Our mission is to bring back the good ol' days, when fans stayed in touch and shared a contagious enthusiasm for the hobby. Of course, the marketplace and the Ticker-Tape are unique features, too; but, even if you aren't buying comics anymore you can still share the fun of keeping in touch with fellow fans through the pages of Comics Source.

Become A V.I.P.

Maybe you're among those collectors who received this issue "free of charge." If so, start your own subscription. That way, you'll be included in all the excitement and fun of upcoming issues. On the inside back cover of this issue you'll find a subscription coupon for starting your own personal subscription at the low price of only $23.45 for twelve issues (a savings of $11.95 off cover price). You can send a check or money order, or use your Mastercard or Visa.

For Faster Service, Call.

If you'd like to charge your subscription to your Mastercard or Visa, you can give us a call at (615) 265-5515 Monday through Saturday from 9 AM to 6 PM Eastern Standard Time.

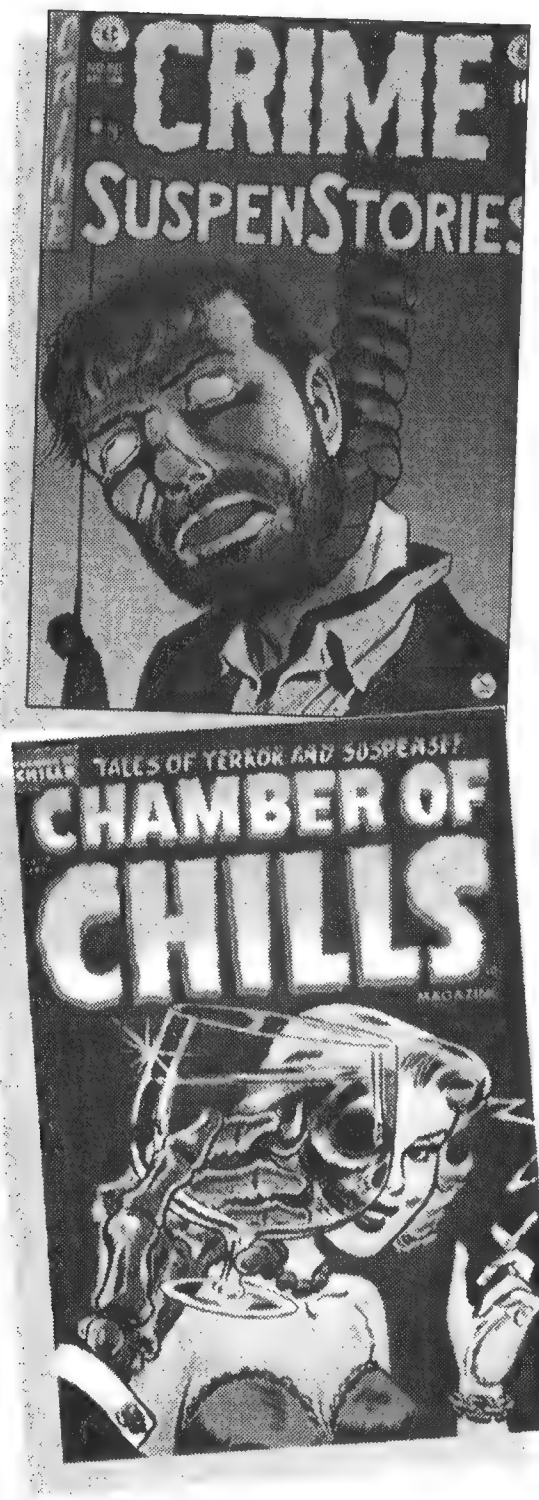
Mr. Comix

Wit and Wisdom from the World of Comix!

Just the Facts, Ma'am...



Mister Comix was disheartened, to say the least, to come across the work of the great underground comix artist, Kim Deitch...in Nickelodeon magazine, of all places! He can only assume that Waldo, and Miles Microft, not to mention the late, great Uncle Ed, aren't doing their fair share in bringing home the bacon. Mister Comix also thinks Uncle Ed has gotten short shrift over the years. Uncle Ed originally appeared in The East Village Other, but since then has been a missing person. (He hasn't even made a milk carton!) It would be nice to see the collected Uncle Ed in a book. Since Uncle Ed bears more than a passing resemblance to the Michelin Man, Mister C. has often wondered whether the tire people are responsible for his disappearance.

If Mister Comix was surprised to find Kim Deitch in Nickelodeon, he was astonished to encounter the work of Joe Kubert in the Mosiach Times, a magazine for Jewish children. And speaking of underground artists, T. Hachdman, who used to draw "Gertrude's Follies" for the Soho News, now draws editorial cartoons for the New York Daily News.

Since we're on the subject of lost souls, Mister Comix would like to take this opportunity to sing the praises of the forgotten "Dragnet" strip from Mirror Enterprises. A number of artists worked on "Dragnet," including Joe Scheiber and Mel Keefer of "Deadline, U.S.A." "Dragnet" ran from 1952 to 1955. It was one of a number of TV-related strips that included "Hopalong Cassidy," "I Love Lucy" and (gag) "My Little Margie." Scheiber was eventually bounced from the strip because his Joe Friday didn't look enough like Jack Webb, according to the late Bill Ziegler. Bill ghosted for Scheiber, and took over after Joe was canned. Keefer's run, the strip's longest, featured some surprisingly impressive work.

All sorts of detective strips have been gathered between covers—everything from Mickey Spillane's "Mike Hammer" to Gus May's "Sherlocko the Monk." "Dragnet" deserves the same level of recognition.

Mister Comix is a voracious reader, downing everything from the Wall Street Journal to Nickelodeon, and has to mention a classified from the Antique Trader that caught his eye: "Original cover art by Tim Conrad for Epic magazine, December 1981, autographed...$250." Mister C. Wasn't unduly surprised to see Epic go under; he used to work in over-sized, black & white comic books (Epic, though, was in color). He's even mildly surprised that Heavy Metal is still hanging on. Despite all the recent hoopla, comic books still remain stuck in a retailing ghetto; news dealers REALLY have no idea where to put over-sized comics.

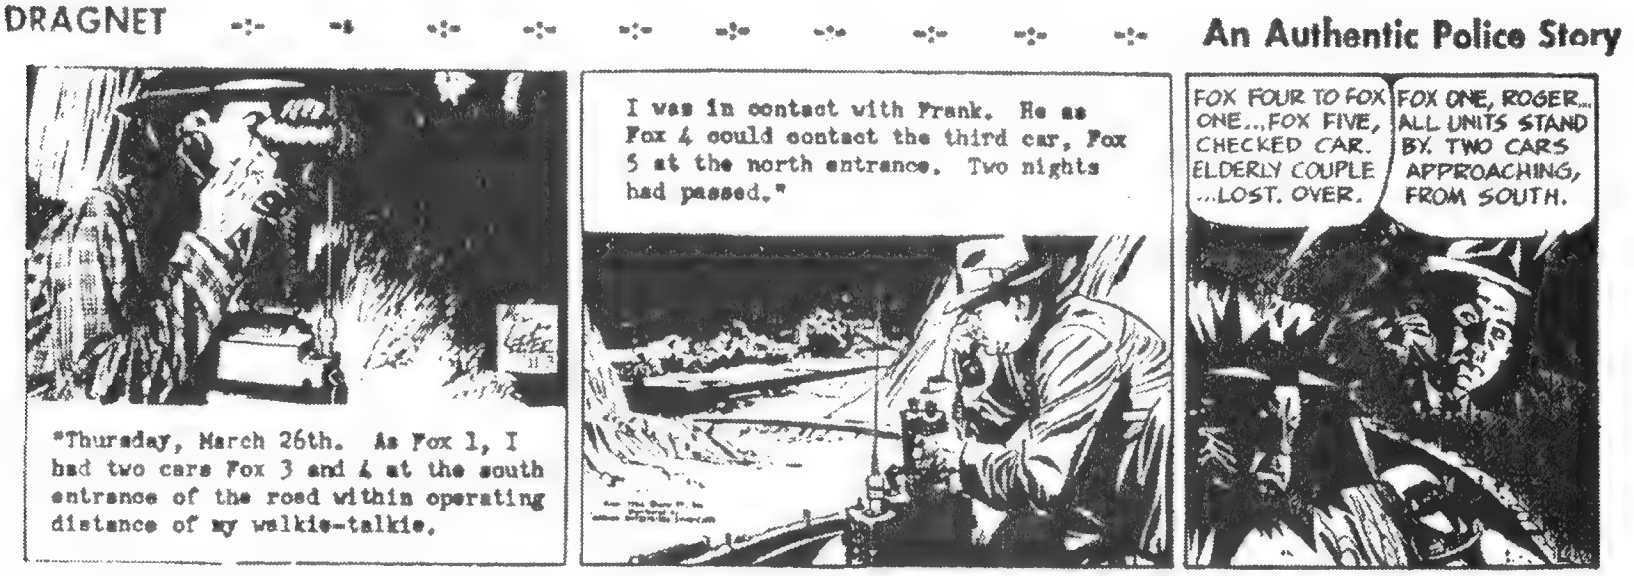
Mister C. must also mention this puff piece from Mediaweek on Marvel's marketing arm: "A kid who watches X-Men on Saturday mornings is likely to steer mom to the Chef Boy-ar-dee X-Men canned pasta display, and [will] eventually dig into his own pockets for X-Men trading cards and comics." Mister Comix has nothing against licensing, but he sometimes wonders whether the tail is wagging the dog. The article goes on to note that "Marvel's comic business is flat."

The envelope, please. Here are this issue's choices for greatest comic book covers of all time: Crime SuspenStories #20, Four Color #199, Chamber of Chills #19, Captain Marvel Adventures #97 (a truly prophetic cover), Reform School Girl, Harvey's Dick Tracy #109, Planet Comics #49, Vault of Horror #30, Batman #73, and Adventure Comics #425. Runners-up include Panic #11, Mad #20, and Detective Comics #87.

Mister C. Is aware of some new comic books with impressive covers, as well as some major clinkers, and will probably pay some homage to them eventually; but for now, for the sake of argument, his cutoff point is the so-called Marvel Age...or better yet, its dawn—not its decline and fall.

And, since we're on the subject of great old comic books, Mister Comix would like to include a classic cartoon by William Stout, done for the American Comic Book Company. It speaks for itself.



The 1950s Dragnet comic strip read like the show. If you use your imagination you can hear Jack Webb's narration.

SENSE of WONDER

"FABULOUS FLO" AND THE FIRST NEW YORK COMICONS

BY BILL SCHELLY
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

It's impossible to overlook the fact that many fans' interest in comics was a result of the meteoric rise of Marvel Comics. Had National/DC entirely dominated the scene in the 1960s, would the fledgling comic fan movement have gotten off the ground? I don't think so.

At first, of course, no one had any idea the new super-hero titles from Marvel would amount to much. In a review of Fantastic Four #1 in The Comicollector #1 (September 1961), Roy Thomas wrote:

"Despite its faults...Fantastic Four holds [the] promise of becoming one of the better comics now on the stands. One interesting aspect of this comic...is that the Thing is a rather rebellious creature who is often at the point of fighting to the death with the leader, Mr. Fantastic...This feature alone, especially if and when the Torch begins to get in on this running feud, would make it well worth any super-hero fan's dime."

The Torch did get into the "running feud," and readers clearly loved Stan Lee's bickering, realistic protagonists. When Spider-Man debuted the following year, the Marvel line captured the imagination of fans everywhere. A phenomenon had begun.

To his surprise, Lee began receiving a smattering of unusually intelligent letters—enough to justify the Fantastic Four Fan Page in F.F. #3. Soon, the smattering turned into a steady stream. By the time Amazing Spider-Man #1 appeared, Stan could no longer handle the mail by himself. Enter...Flo Steinberg, whose perky, vivacious personality earned her the nickname, "Fabulous Flo."

Stark and simple, the 1964 Comicon button didn't waste words.

Flo recently described how she got the job as Stan Lee's assistant in March 1963. "I grew up in Boston, got a Liberal Arts degree from the University of Massachusetts, and [at the age of twenty-three] came to New York to look for a job. I moved into the 'Y,' which was what you did back then, and went job hunting."

An employment agency sent her to interview for an office job ("gal Friday") at a publishing house called Magazine Management. Flo had no idea she was about to become a part of the comics industry. "Although I'd always liked comics as a kid, I wasn't looking for comics work, per se," Flo remembers. "Magazine Management was a very large company. So I dressed up in my pearls and gloves, and nervously entered the building. Stan himself interviewed me. There was no one else! Marvel had just one little cubby hole on the floor."

Stan immediately put Flo at ease. He described the job: answering the phone, opening the mail, keeping tabs on the artists, sending material to the comics Code Authority and, then, to the engraver in Connecticut."It wasn't that difficult," Flo grins. "There weren't very many books then, maybe ten or twelve, and many of them were bi-monthlies."

Lee offered her a job on the spot. "He said, 'Well, if you'd like to start...,' and I did! It was that simple. I think the job paid $60 a week, which was the going rate in 1963." At the time, Marvel had no other staffers, though [publisher] Martin Goodman had an office, and Sol Brodsky would come in once a week to prepare the house ads. All the artists worked at home.

The sudden influx of letters impressed and heartened Stan and Flo. Increasing sales figures told one story, but the fan mail revealed that the Marvel super-heroes were appealing to a different breed of reader.

"It was a shock to us, a real surprise, when we noticed the readership getting older," Flo says. "We would get letters from college students, and servicemen...or even [laughs] the occasional girl."

Just as their readers took the comics seriously, Stan and Flo took the letters seriously. They opened every letter, and, in the early days, Stan read them all. A distinctive blue postcard, thanking the reader for his or her interest, responded to each one.

"When the mail got too tremendous, I would sort through it and put the letters of more than passing interest into huge folders. That's what Stan would see," Flo explains. "We really enjoyed looking through all the fanzines that started coming in. I was amazed that all those people out there cared enough to put together a little magazine about comic books—enough to write about them and draw them. It was another confirmation that people really appreciated our comics, and took them seriously. The fanzines were great! I tried to write a little thank you note for each one we received."

Stan gave several boosts to Comic Fandom in the F.F. Fan Page. He helped forge contacts between fans by printing full addresses of the letter writers, as had Julius Schwartz at National/DC. He plugged fanzines like G.B. Love's The Rocket's Blast and Ronn Foss's The Comicollector (for Ronn had taken over the editorial reigns from Jerry Bails). Those early F.F. columns printed letters from many fans, including Alan Weiss, Rick Norwood, Buddy Saunders, Fred Bronson, Landon Chesney, Paul Gambaccini, Steve Gerber, Mark Gruenwald, Dave Cockrum and Roy Thomas.

Yet, when Bernie Bubnis and Ron Fradkin held the first New York Comicon on July 27th, 1964, Stan Lee did not attend. "Stan had to keep writing the comics," Flo explains. "He took a great deal of pride in meeting deadlines—we all did—and he was writing everything. When the invitation came in from Bernie and Ron, I volunteered to go and represent Marvel." So Fabulous Flo acted as Marvel's good will ambassador at the 1964 New York Con, held at the Workman's Circle Building on 4th Avenue, near Union Square.

Dave Kaler and Flo Steinberg spend a "casual" moment together cutting the 1965 Comicon cake.

"We would get letters from college students, and servicemen...or even [laughs] the occasional girl."

"It was a typically hot summer day in New York," Flo continues. "These were the days before air-conditioning was common. I don't remember too much about that first comicon, though. A young fellow, a Marvel intern named Dave Twedt, accompanied me. Steve Ditko was there, though he didn't say much. But it was pleasant. There was a feeling of camaraderie. It was fun chatting with the fans."

Twedt, acting as Stan's proxy, asked for questions, and was soon fielding them from all sides. He handled them with some alacrity, though he referred a fan's questions about how much the artists got paid to Steve Ditko. With a shake of the head, Ditko declined to answer.

The 1964 Comicon lasted just four hours, from 2pm to 6pm. Most of the fifty or so attendees came away with some kind of door prize (DC had donated original art), and all sported special metal buttons (designed by Art Tripp) emblazoned with the words "Comicon 1964." Today, those buttons are true collector's items.

Flo also attended the more elaborate 1965 New York Comicon, organized by David Kaler with the help of Marv Wolfman, Len Wein and others. "I got people like Jim Steranko [who had not yet turned pro]," Kaler says, "and a whole group of folks I knew from DC and Marvel, who cooperated with me wonderfully." On July 31st, 1965, close to 200 fans converged on the Greenwich Village site of the Hotel Broadway Central.

"The 1965 Comicon was the 'real thing,'" Flo remembers. "There were several panels with professionals, and a costume contest. It was so hot in there! Back then, men wore suits and women dressed up, which made it even worse. In the photograph, you'll notice Dave's wearing just a T-shirt and slacks."

Although the photograph to which Flo refers is fuzzy, it's the first one I've encountered from this early comic book convention. It records the moment when Kaler and Steinberg were getting ready to cut the large Comicon cake.

"The elevators were creaky and old, and it seemed like the building was going to fall down. And it did!"

"Dave asked me to cut the cake, and I said, 'Sure,'" she recalls. "He really did a good job organizing the con. Dave was such a fuss-budget! He wanted everything 'just so.'" Kaler went on to organize cons in New York in 1966 and '67, before handing the chore over to Phil Seuling when the affair became too big and elaborate for him to handle. Seuling, of course, continued running the New York cons into the 1980s.

Prominent pros attending in 1965 included Otto Binder, Gardner Fox, Gil Kane, Jim Warren, Bill Finger, Murphy Anderson and Bill Harris. A number of comic book dealers—including Bill Thailing, Ed Aprill, Don Foote, Doug Berman and Phil Seuling—were on hand, hawking their wares during special times set aside for selling and trading. Also on hand was a prominent fan-turned-pro named Roy Thomas, who had just quit a job working for Mort Weisinger at DC to take a position with Marvel.

Although appreciative of the thrifty hotel rooms (a single room with a private bath cost $6 a night), fans were a little bemused by the seedy quality of the Hotel Broadway Central.

"It was a real dump!" Flo recalls, laughing. "The elevators were creaky and old, and it seemed like the building was going to fall down. And it did!"

The hotel collapsed to the ground several years later, for no apparent reason.

For Flo Steinberg, those early years at Marvel were pure magic. "Stan was happy. Sales were up, and people appreciated what we were doing. The fanzines and comicons were such fun. It was an exciting time. I lucked into the job, and I'll always be grateful to Stan. He was the nicest person in the world to work for."

Why, then, did she quit in March 1968?

"Because I couldn't get a $5 raise!" Flo answers. "At the time, Martin Goodman was the publisher...and he just felt certain positions didn't get raises. That it was okay [to lose an employee]—you just got new people. Stan did his best [to get me a raise]...but he wasn't the boss then. Besides, I was thinking, 'What's going to happen to my future?' I didn't really have a craft, or profession or anything. So I thought it would be good for me to get a 'real' job.' I went back to interviewing, and got hired at the American Petroleum Institute. I became a technical editor and proofreader."

In the early 1970s, after a brief move to California, Steinberg ran Captain Company for Jim Warren for a few years, and published her own one-shot underground comic book. Big Apple Comics had work by Wally Wood, Neal Adams, Ralph Reese and others. "It's not what you'd call politically correct these days," Flo said, "but I just thought there ought to be an underground published out of New York. It was a lot of fun, but I never did get around to doing #2."

Her big break came when she landed the position of Managing Editor of an arts magazine published by the late Al Demick, a highly challenging job that lasted for thirteen years. Finally, Steinberg established herself in the publishing field, and satisfied her career objectives.

Now, in 1995, "Fabulous Flo" has returned to the comic book industry on a part-time basis. "I'm working with Jack Abel, proofreading books for Marvel about four days a week. It's great to be back at Marvel.

"Every once in a while, Mark Gruenwald will ask me, 'Do you remember back in the 1960s, when this happened, or that happened?'...and I have to tell him, 'Mark, I just thought of working at Marvel as a good job. Who knew what it would become?'"

You can send questions about the history of comic fandom, fanzines, and comicons to Bill Schelly, c/o Comics Source.

Bill Schelly tells us that his publisher has sold out of his book, The Golden Age of Comic Fandom. While they last, you can still obtain copies by sending $11.95 + $2.50 to Bud Plant Comic Art, PO Box 1689, Grass Valley, CA 95945. Also, Jim Hanley's Universe in New York City may have a few copies left. Highly recommended!

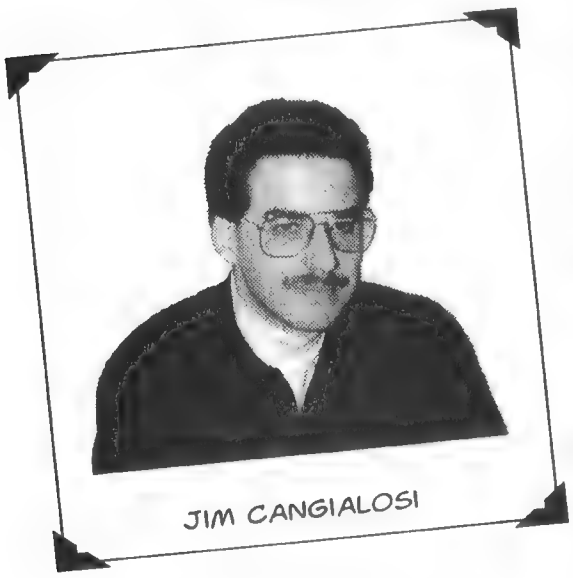
Talking Shop

A "chat" with some of our dealer friends conducted by Jim Cangialosi



If comic conventions are to survive, they're going to have to change their format. At the last few conventions I've attended, I've noticed a drop in the number of attendees, dealers, professionals, and publishers appearing—not only at the smaller shows, but at the megashows, too. There is no single cause for the problems plaguing the convention circuit, but the dealers' main gripe seems to be the rising cost of exhibition tables; the average price for a table at most of the larger conventions is now $800-$1,000. That's a lot of money to fork over when you're not even guaranteed any sales! When you add in travel expenses, hotel accommodations, and payroll for your help, you're talking about some big bucks. If a dealer is lucky enough to sell a couple of high-priced books, he might make out all right—but if he sells only a couple of $100 items, he's taking a big loss.

I always have a good time at any convention I attend, but I may be the exception, rather than the rule. Remember: if things become too expensive, a lot of well known dealers will stop displaying—which will lower fan attendance levels even more. Besides lowering table prices, conventions are going to have to guarantee appearances by a certain number of high-profile professionals and publishers just to keep the fans coming—otherwise, the convention may simply fade into oblivion. And that would be a shame, because the comic book convention has always been a great way for fans to get together and enjoy the hobby they love.

Let's chat with some of our dealer friends.

"Older comics had a better story continuity," says Greg Bartholomew of All-American Comics in Warren, OH. "The old stuff, especially from the Golden Age, had self-contained stories, and were written by creators who were good at storytelling. Today's kids could learn a lot from these old books—especially that COMICS ARE FUN." Greg also feels that Golden Age comics were more dependable than Modern books. "You could get two- or three-year commitment out of a writer or artist before he would leave a title. Today, creative teams change constantly over short periods of time."

Besides the usual barrage of requests for high-grade comics, Greg has been seeing a renewed interest in mid-grade, mid-priced, Silver Age Marvels. His recent sales include Action Comics #45 in F for $225, Amazing Fantasy #15 in VF+ (restored) for $4,000, Amazing SpiderMan #8 in G for $80, Iron Man #3 in F for $30, and Strange Tales #97 in VG+ for $125.

Greg believes larger comic book conventions will continue to do well, but the mid-sized to smaller ones will be less frequent, and will boast smaller attendances. Greg's favorite comic character since he started collecting comics has been the Hulk. "I love the fact that the meek, geeky scientist becomes the powerful, strong guy," he chuckles. "Even by today's standards, the Hulk is still one of the best-produced comic titles for sale."

"Today's kids could learn a sense of fair play, morals, and heroism by reading older comics," says Keith Contarino of Contarino's Comics in Powder Springs, GA. Keith feels today's comics just don't do a very good job of storytelling. "In the 1940s," he explains, "we had books with really great, neat looking, eye grabbing covers, but with stories written mostly for kids. In the 1950s, comics began printing stories more appropriate for older kids and adults. In the Timely super-hero revival of the early 1950s, the stories were poorly written. But in the late '50s, DC developed new superheroes and increased the quality of storytelling, which Marvel took one step further. Jack Kirby and Stan Lee's stories in Fantastic Four, Avengers and X-Men were truly great. In the mid-1970s, John Byrne produced some really good stuff in X-Men. By the 1980s, comics began selling just because of their writers—like Frank Miller, Alan Moore, and Byrne. Today, the hot books have eye-catching covers, but poorly written stories again, with little or no substance."

Keith's best-selling books currently include extremely high-grade Marvels; all Golden Age keys; X-Men #94; Giant Size X-Men #1; late 1940s-early 1950s good girl comics like Phantom Lady; Reform School Girl; and books with LB Cole covers. Books from the 1970s, such as Marvel Team-Up, Star Wars, and Nova #1 are also selling—but only in dead Mint. Dr. Keith can't give away 12¢ Spideys in the issue #40-60 range.

His most recent sales include Amazing Spider-Man #14 in VFNM for $1,500; Marvel Mystery #5 in VF (tear seal) for $7,500; Strange Tales #110 in NM for $2,000; and a variety of 12¢ Marvels in the $15-$30 range out of the $5 boxes. "I would have to say Barks's Uncle Scrooge is my favorite character," says Keith. "What Barks did was phenomenal. He used this character as a vehicle to show the good people can do."

"I think kids can learn how art styles have changed, and can gain a good historical perspective by looking at older comics," says Tim Cottrill of The Bookery in Fairborn, OH. "The older books are too expensive for kids to buy, but they can still add reprints to their collections." Tim also thinks today's books lack variety. "Back [in the Golden and Silver Age], you had violent comics, but you also had westerns, funny animal, and other types of books. You had more choices."

Recent sales at The Bookery include Amazing Fantasy #15 in G for $1,000; All-Top Comics #16 in VFNM for $370; Black Phantom #1 in VF for $240; Catman #27 in VG for $100; Eerie #1 (1st Series) in VF for $1,000; a coverless copy of Marvel Comics #1 for $2,200; and Planet Comics #39 in NM for $540. Tim still sees Golden Age books selling for 1.5X-2X guide, but says fans are no longer buying them at 3X-4X guide."

"The first thing kids can learn from the older comics is how to read a single story in one issue," says Bruce Edwards of Quasar Comics in Louisville, KY. "The older books had a more realistic approach to storytelling, more uniform and logical panel continuity, and had stories with plenty of action and excitement. Somewhere between the Golden and the Modern Age, we've lost our connection with the characters and our storytelling basis in realism."

Although Bruce didn't have any sales to report this month (his auction had not yet taken place when we spoke), he did say most of his requests have been for a title called Shi. In the older book area, Bruce is seeing a slow-down in requests for Silver and Golden Age material, with the exception of books sporting Alex Schomburg covers. "There are more conventions now than ever before—but they're not all successful," says Bruce. "If conventions continue to focus on new books, they will fail; if they have more structure, and focus on real "collector's items," they'll do fine."

Bruce's favorite character is Gold Key's Magnus—Robot Fighter. "He was a super-hero who retained his human qualities, and always acted for the good of the people instead of simply for himself."

"The stories were better in Golden and Silver Age comics," says Conrad Eschenberg of Dimension Comics & Original Art in Cold Springs, NY, "and they didn't go on for fifteen issues. You got one story per comic in the old days—although OCCASIONALLY you may have read a comic by Ditko or Kirby that went on for more than a single issue.

"Even the quality of art is better in the older books. The late 1950s and early 1960s were, in my opinion, the "Diamond Age" of comics. Steve Ditko developed his own mysterious style, and Jack Kirby's art had a dynamic feel to it. Kirby produced such a large volume of material, and had such longevity in the business, that his accomplishments will never be surpassed. No artist in the 1990s really stands out as a true artistic genius."

According to Conrad, fans still want the same types of Golden and Silver Age material they have in the past. "People are spending money," says Conrad, "Our problem is in restocking the books they want." Conrad's sales of note include Adventure Comics #73 in VFNM for $4,000 and Adventure Comics #74 in VFNM for $1,250.

"My favorite character has always been Spider-Man," says Conrad, "He was a very realistic character who had realistic problems."

Joe Field of Flying Color Comics in Concord, CA recently picked up a collection of late Golden Age books containing about 700 comics from 1946-1954—including various issues of All-Star Comics; Police Comics; Comic Cavalcade; Dell Ducks; and DC romance, western, and hero books. The collection didn't contain many Timelys, but it did include a copy of Sub-Mariner #27. The condition of the books range from G to VF. Joe's sales from this collection include Batman #48 in VG for $150, Detective Comics #140 in G for $500, Detective Comics #142 in VGF for $300, and Detective Comics #168 in F for $1,200.

Joe thinks kids can get a good history lesson of comics from the old books. "The older stuff also distinguished between good and evil, and showed right would win against wrong," he adds. "The dawn of the anti-hero also lessened the humanity of the characters."

Joe believes dealers should specialize more in what bring to and market at conventions. "Constant new issue dumping at will eventually bore many fans."

"My favorite new character is Bone," he grins. "Whether it has longevity remains to be seen. My all-time favorite character is Spider-Man. He was a character I could identify with."

"Distributors are now charging for delivery of new issues," says Dan Gallo of Frontline Comics in Hastings, NY. "I don't get enough new issues to get a 50% discount, so it feels like I'm only getting the books as a service to my customers. From now on, I'm only buying and stocking what sells." Dan's customers have been looking for Incredible Hulk issues #1-6, and #181(the first full appearance of Wolverine). Recent sales at Frontline include Amazing Spider-Man #2 in VG for $450, Daredevil #1 in G for $165, Flash #105 in GVG for $350, House of Secrets #92 in VF+ for $450, Incredible

Hulk #1 in FR for $350, and Strange Tales #110 in VGF for $175.

"Tables at conventions cost too much," says Dan."The big shows will always do well, but the smaller ones won't—a dealer can really make money only at the larger ones."

Dan's favorite characters are Superman and Spider-Man. "Spidey is your typical, everyday guy who just happens to have super-powers," he explains, "and Superman can just do it all."

"It's remarkable how much interest I've been seeing in Golden and Silver Age," says Dan Greenhalgh of Showcase New England in Wallingford, CT. As I reported last month, Dan has recently made some impressive, possibly record-breaking, sales of high-grade issues of Amazing Spider-Man. Here are a few of the books he's sold: issue #2 in VFNM for $4,000; #5 in NM for $2,200; #6 in NM for $2,000; #7 in NM+ for $1,500; #10 in NM for $1,100; #12 in NM for $800; #13 in NM- for $850; #14 in NM for $2,500; #15 in NM for $1,000; #16 in NM for $1,000; #18 in NM for 575; #21 in NM for $360; #22 in NM for $320; #23 in M for $610; #24 in NM for $250; and #25 in NM for $280. Whew! Pretty impressive sales, Dan!

Dan predicts the big comic conventions will continue to do well, but the smaller ones will fall by the wayside. Dan chose Spider-Man as his all-time favorite character. "He was the character I could identify with the most," says Mr. Greenhalgh. With the prices you posted for issues of Spider-Man, Dan, we can understand why he is one of your favorites!

Jef Hinds of Jef Hind's Comics in Madison, WI explains, "The older books contain really great examples of wonderful artwork and storytelling. By getting acquainted with them, you can gain a better appreciation for the comics and the hobby. The first forty issues of all the early Silver Age Marvels are especially good, as are the various EC titles. Today, unfortunately, most comics rely more on violence then on story and characterization."

Most of Jef's customers are looking for high-grade Silver Age titles, as well as almost any Golden Age books they can get their hands on. Jef is also seeing a lot of interest in various esoteric books like Feature Comics, early funny animal books, Atlas titles, and horror comics. His recent sales include Amazing Spider-Man #2 in VF for $2,300; Avengers #1 in F- for $450; Captain America #7 in VGF for $1,500; Captain America #8 in VG for $1,000; Fantastic Four #5 in VF for $1,800; Fantastic Four #12 in VFNM for $950; Feature Comics #20 in F for $400; Feature Comics #22 in F for $200; Flash Comics #110 in VF for $540; and Super-Dooper Comics #1-4 in NM for 2X guide.

"I think comic conventions are going to keep going as well as they have," says Jef. "They will keep getting bigger and better." Jef's favorite comic character is Black Bolt of the Inhumans. "He may be an off-beat choice," he explains, "but I always loved the fact that he can't talk for fear of blowing up the world. Stan Lee's heroes all have such interesting features and characterizations." Just so everyone didn't think he wasn't mainstream, Jef picked the ever lovin', blue-eyed Thing as his second favorite character.

"The comics from the Golden and Silver Age contained stories that developed characters, and gave emotions and feelings to them," says Mark Montgomery of Comics Heritage in Nashville, TN. "The first fifty issues of Fantastic Four and Spider-Man are prime examples of great character development. Today's comics have lost that level of writing talent. Many of the writers HAVE talent, but can't keep their political views out of their work. I'm also tired of comics with jacked-up cover prices and stories about clones."

According to Mark, mainstream Timely and Atlas books are still hot, as are Superman #53 and All-Star Comics #8. "I've been seeing an increase in Silver Age Marvel sales," he explains, "and a slight slowdown in some Golden Age books. People are beginning to balk at G.A. books that have 3X-4X guide asking prices on them." Mark's recent sales include All-Star Comics #4 in FVF for $2,000; All-Star Comics #4 in F+ for $1,600; All-Winners Comics #19 in G for $400; Amazing Spider-Man #1 in VF (restored) for $4,000; Flash #105 in VG+ for $900; Superman #53 in VG+ for $575; Superman #53 in F+ for $800; Tally-Ho Comics (1st Frazetta) in F+ for $150; and Tally-Ho Comics in VF for $250.

"The comic shows I attended in Tulsa and Phoenix didn't go very well," Mark shakes his head. "Some regional shows are good for old books, while others are not. I just don't see a bright future for new comics at conventions." Mark's favorite character is Spider-Man. "He's just a character I can relate too. He's the character that got me into this business. After I encountered him, I wanted a complete set of Spideys."

"I don't think today's kids can learn much from the older stuff," says Jack Mallette of Mallette's Vintage Collectibles in Jackson, MS. "Today's books and older books are as different as night and day.

"Sales of new books are showing alarming downside trends," Jack adds, "and there's been a slowdown of the older books in the marketplace, reminiscent of the slowdown taking place in the sports card hobby. I think lot of investors are getting disappointed that the prices of books aren't going sky-high, and are getting out of the hobby. My best advice to collectors is BUY WHAT YOU LIKE; if you worry about monetary value, you're going to be disappointed."

Many of Jack's customers are looking for peculiar items. "I sold a NM copy of Pussycat in within ten minutes for $150. It's possibly the rarest of the Silver Age Marvels." Other items moving for Jack are Fiction House and Fawcett titles. Apparently, many folks are trying to complete their collections while the material is still available, and within their price range." To round out our discussion, Jack narrowed his favorite characters down to Tarzan and Uncle Scrooge.

"The old books showed kids that the good guys always win; today's books confront kids with a new 'grim-and-gritty' type of hero," says John Moore of Comic Etc. in Hickory, NC. "Old comics were just good, clean fun. They were simple, too; you could buy one book and get one story. Now, it takes two years before one story finishes. And if the stories aren't good, fans are eventually going to leave."

John's customers are looking for high-grade Silver and Golden Age books, but he just can't keep a supply in stock. "In this area, Timelys are scarce," he says, "and I can't meet the demand for Gold and Silver books. Silver Age prices are starting to go so high that Gold is beginning to look cheap again." John's recent sales posted Amazing Fantasy #15 in G for $1,500; various late issues of Flash for $40 apiece; and X-Men #7 in F for $60.

"I hope comic conventions begin attracting celebrities from the science fiction area, not just comic professionals who THINK they're celebrities," says John. "I'm not doing any major conventions until the prices on the tables begin to go down." John's favorite character is the Flash. "I enjoy reading the title; he hasn't been made into a dark, gritty type of hero."

According to Harry Thomas of Nashville, TN, "The old books had good stories about characters you cared about. Golden Age stories were not GREAT stories, they were FUN stories about REAL heroes. There are no such things as real comic book heroes any longer. Today's writers are just young fans who haven't tasted real life," Harry explains. "People like Lee, Ditko and Kirby incorporated real life experiences into their comics.

"Today, there are so many books with Spider-Man in them, the character is flooding the market! No one knows who the character is any longer, and no one really cares about him any more. Eventually, people are just going to stop buying books with Spidey in them." Harry believes real collectors are coming back to the hobby. "People are beginning to understand there's no investment potential in the new books, and are going back to shows—which are demonstrating an increase in book sales and in attendance. Conventions are a place for collectors, and should start concentrating more on comic history."

Harry recently sold a copy of Amazing Spider-Man #1 in VF (restored) for $4,500. He's also recently come across a VFNM collection of books, including issues of Tales to Astonish, Journey into Mystery, etc. The books have solid white pages and are selling at full guide prices. Unfortunately, Harry didn't have his list of sales with him when we spoke, so I'll have to get them from him next time.

"I'd pick All-Star Comics as my favorite character book," Harry grins. "I love all the old DC characters so much, it's hard for me to choose a specific one as my favorite."

Believe me, Harry, I know what you mean. I love all the Justice Society characters! To pick one as my favorite has been tough, but I finally decided on...Dr. Fate. The mystery that surrounds him, and the duality of his character enthralls me. The fact that his Golden helmet completely hides his face makes him that much more interesting, and makes him a challenge for any writer or artist who works on him. To convey a character's mood and demeanor without the use of facial expressions must be a challenging task—but I'll bet it's a fun one, too!

That's it for this month. I'd like to wish all of you Happy Holidays! I hope your stockings are stuffed with many rare and wonderful comic!. See you in 1996!

TICKER TAPE
THE GUIDE TO SOLD

Here's How It Works

What Is TickerTape? It's a new way of reporting comic book values. Instead of a "price guide," TickerTape is an actual list of sales prices as reported by our subscribers and our network of dealer advisors.

Great Idea!

At first, some readers don't understand what's going on. But once they see what it's all about, most say, "Whoa! Why didn't someone think of this before?"

TickerTape answers the questions What? When? and For How Much?

With TickerTape, making purchasing decisions is a snap.

What's something really worth? What someone is willing to pay, that's what. Now you know!

Remember!

All of the prices you see in TickerTape are actual sales —not estimates, averages, or guesses.

Write to Us!

We're interested in what our subscribers think about TickerTape, so if you have any thoughts or suggestions, write us at TickerTape c/o Comics Source, Box 2512, Chattanooga, TN 37409

THIS MONTH the TickerTape section covers comics that were reported as sold since September of 1995. Thanks to everyone who contributed sales info!

Classifieds

Here's How It Works

What is this section called Comic Book Classifieds? Think of it as a typical classified ad section—but with a twist. The twist is that the ad classifications are the actual comic book titles, so, if you collect X-Men, you simply look under the heading for that title and presto, you'll find all the issues of X-Men available for sale. It's a great new way for collectors to buy and sell comics. Because all titles are listed alphabetically, regardless of who the seller is, finding comics for your collection is a snap.

How Do You Contact The Seller?

We're not a middleman, you contact the seller directly. Notice at the end of each classified ad is a code, like "CHAN2" for example. This code identifies the seller. Turn to the Classified Advertiser Directory (located in the back of this issue) to find CHAN2's name, address, and telephone number. Pick up the phone and place your order, or send an order through the mail!

Great Idea!

At first, some readers don't understand what's going on. But once they see what it's all about, most say, "Whoa! Why didn't someone think of this before?"

Don't Forget.

Remember, all of the items in the Comic Book Classifieds are either FOR SALE or WANTED. You contact buyers or sellers directly, using their ID Code and the advertiser directory found in the back of this issue.

Send Us A Testimonial!

We're always looking for feedback from dealers and collectors who rely on our unique classified marketplace, so we invite you to "tell us all about it", write us at Comics Source Classifieds, Box 2512, Chattanooga, TN 37409

Who knows, we may publish your letter in an upcoming issue!

MAIL-ORDER TIPS

For many of you, mail-order is a primary means of purchasing items for your collection. That's why COMICS SOURCE has put together the following special section. Our Marketplace offers a convenient place to quickly find the items you need from a wide variety of dealers and collectors. But before you shop by phone, look for the mail-order source that is best for you. Here are a few tips to help you get the most out of your buying experience.

Mail order is an excellent way to buy and sell, because it gives you instant access to more buyers, sellers and merchandise than can be found in almost any regional market. But, as in any endeavor, it's smart to take precautions.

Here are a few tips that will make your dealings through the mail easy and hassle free.

Research The Company

Well-established companies or long-time collectors tend to be reliable, but if you're not sure how well established a company or individual is, it pays to do a little research and ask a few questions. Get References. Call the publication the ad was placed in and inquire as to any complaints levied against the persons placing the ad. Comics Source blacklists any advertiser who receives three unresolved written complaints.

Start Small

Purchase inexpensive items first, if possible. If you're pleased with the service you receive, order again.

Compare Prices

If a price seems too good to be true, beware. One of the greatest features of our marketplace is the ability to quickly compare prices. If someone's price is far below what others are offering the item for, ask why. There could be a good reason, but sometimes this is a sign of a potential rip-off. We try to screen advertisers, but it's still smart to take precautions.

Pay With Credit

Whenever possible, use a credit card. Some credit card companies do such things as chargeback on unsatisfactory purchases or give a refund if you find a lower price elsewhere. If you have a problem with an order, your credit card company will often deal with the mail-order company.

Be Cautious

Keep a record of your transactions (orders, follow-up letters, phone conversations) so that you have recourse in the unlikely event of a problem.

Consider using a 3rd party service

3rd party services, such as Pacific Comics Exchange, offer to act as an escrow service. Companies charge a fee for this service, but the fee is well worth it if you're spending large sums of money.

Ask For Photocopies

Most reliable collectors or dealers will be only too glad to send you a photocopy or Polaroid photo of an item. Sometimes they may ask for a small fee per photo.

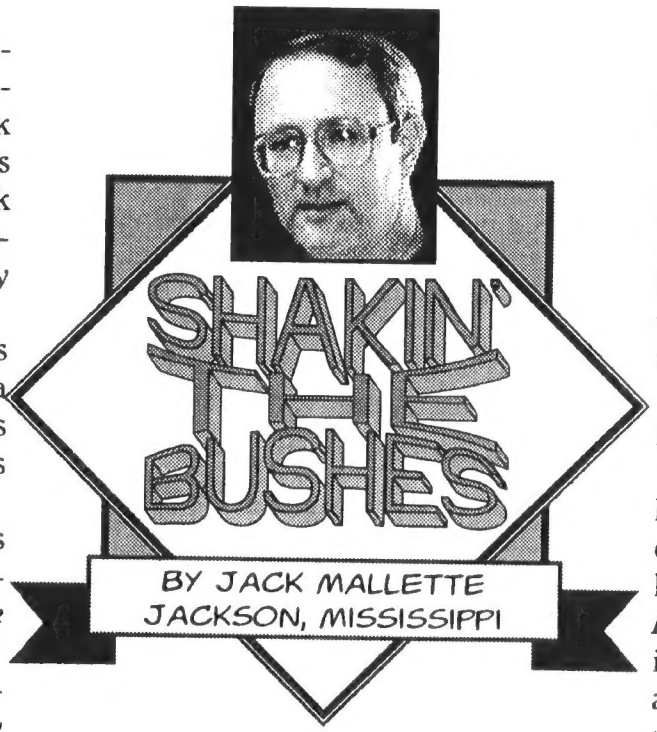
Delivery Methods

Ask about delivery methods — find out what carriers are used, how fast they are, and how much each one costs. Record delivery information.

Return Policies

Because you're buying sight unseen, make sure the company or individual has a return policy you're comfortable with. Find out if you are responsible for paying shipping charges on returned goods and whether you'll be charged a restocking fee. A typical return policy is six days from date of receipt. If the company does not offer a return policy, don't buy!

By Crom!—Jack's Back With Barbarian Facts!



Our story thus far: Well-known adventurer and intrepid bush-shaker Jack Mallette has just hopped in his trusty steed, "Subaru," and we pick up his trail somewhere west of Dallas as he leaves a fat, balding guy driving a Winnebago in his dust.

The sign on the interstate says Cross Plains, Texas, next exit, and a quick glance at the map confirms that it's only about twenty miles south of I-20.

For the uninformed, Cross Plains is the boyhood home of Robert E. Howard, creator of Conan the Barbarian, et al.

As I tooled down the dusty two-lane highway, I tried to imagine how Conan sprang from the dusty, rolling hills of central Texas in the oil boom of the 1930s. After all, not many towns of any size can lay claim to someone who created an entire genre of fiction.

But as I rolled nearer to town, all I could think was that if mesquite were a cash crop, these people would have a second boom on their hands.

The people of Cross Plains are well aware of their famous native son, and I talked to one old-timer who remembered "Bob" Howard and his running buddies. He also remembered reading some of Howard's stories in the original Weird Tales pulp magazines, and thinking, "How in the world does he come up with such things?"

He also remembered seeing Howard dressed in a cape, practicing with a sword in his front yard as a storm descended upon the town. He said Howard didn't seem to notice.

I certainly recommend this short pilgrimage to any true fans; it's well worth it.

Stop by the library and ask for Miss Loving. She graciously took me over to the Howard's home a few blocks away, which they've turned into a museum, and gave me a personal tour. I donated a few Conan comics to their library's collection, and she let me read some of R.E. Howard's original manuscripts.

Only a true Conan fan can appreciate my elation, so I won't even attempt to explain it.

The strangest part was standing where Bob Howard committed suicide when it became apparent that his mother was dying. They had a double funeral.

From Cross Plains I traveled to the San Diego Comic Con. I've driven this route several times before, and it always seems hotter. And farther.

This time, for amusement, I tried to pick out famous profiles in the mountain ranges. I saw Nixon, Agnew, Elvis singing "Kentucky Rain," and finally, just east of the Arizona/New Mexico state line, Little Annie Fannie in all her glory.

But even this game got old. After a while everything started to look like Ernest Borgnine.

I finally got to San Diego, and while I had many wondrous adventures, I have two prominent mam-er, memories: Julie Strain, who is as nice as she is tall, and my first ever meeting with Frank Frazetta.

Again, only a true Frazetta fan can understand my sense of awe. And one who certainly can is the fifteen year old girl who fainted when she met him.

The one who had the toughest time understanding this seemed to be Frank himself.

I also had the pleasure of meeting and talking with his guiding light, his wife, Ellie. After wondering in one of my past columns which paintings she posed for, I can finally attest: all of them.

And it's nice to see that true love lasts.

Since getting home, though, I've had to rearrange my emergency fire escape routine. Now it's wife, kids, lock box, then Frazetta's Pillow Book autographed by Frank to me in his famous signature. One should always reassess one's priorities, right? Right.

Many thanks to Joe Mannarino and his wife, Nadia, for bringing the Frazettas to San Diego.

An interesting tale: Joe and Frank were strolling down the artists' aisles when they came upon a group of young artists working at their easels. One of the artists was working on a swipe of one of Frazetta's pieces, "The Death Dealer," I believe, when Joe asks, "Hey, do you have permission to copy that?"

The guy answers, "Of course. You don't think I'd be copying an artist's work without his permission, do you?"

Whereupon, Joe turns around and asks, "How about it, Frank, did you give this guy permission to copy your stuff?"

As Frazetta answers, "No, not as I recall," the guy turns white as a sheet, then practically trips over his easel trying to shake Frazetta's hand.

All ended well and in good faith, since it was only an artist's exercise, and I'm sure Joe has told the story at least a hundred times by now. I know I have.

Next month, La-la land and Vegas.

Happy trails!

Oh, yeah, be honest, be fair, and beware! Bye!
